1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 Plaintiff and Class Representative Stacy Dorcas (“Class Representative” or “Plaintiff”), on 3 behalf of the Settlement Class,¹ hereby moves the Court for entry of an Order Granting Final Approval
4 of the Settlement Agreement (the “Settlement Agreement” or “Settlement”), Certifying the class for 5 purposes of settlement, and approving Plaintiff’s requested fees, costs, and class representative 6 service award in this matter. Defendant Aterian, Inc. (“Defendant”) does not oppose the Grant of 7 Final Approval or the Certification of the Settlement Class.² Class Representative and Defendant are 8 referred to herein as the “Parties.”

9 I. INTRODUCTION

10 Pursuant to the Court’s August 3, 2023 order granting Plaintiff’s preliminary approval motion 11 (the “Preliminary Approval Order”), the Settlement Class has received Court-approved notice of the 12 Settlement, and has had an opportunity to submit claims, opt-outs, or objections. The response from 13 Settlement Class Members has been overwhelmingly positive. Due to the use of Amazon’s email 14 notice capabilities, over 95% of the putative class members were provided with direct personal notice 15 of the settlement and there has been a de minimus number of opt-outs and objections to date.

16 As further detailed below, Settlement Class Members will benefit from fair, reasonable, and 17 adequate compensation. In addition to the monetary compensation, the Settlement Agreement 18 provides for Defendant ceasing, for no less than five (5) years, to use the word “Austria” or the 19 Austrian flag on any of the Mueller-branded products, its packaging, labeling, and/or its online
20 marketing, including but not limited to its Mueller-branded products listings on third-party retail sites 21 such as Amazon.com and websites maintained by Aterian (including muellerdirect.com). This is an 22 excellent result for the Settlement Class, as the Settlement fulfills the dual purpose of the consumer 23 protection laws at issue in this case: restitution to the Settlement Class through monetary relief and 24 equitable relief in the form of labeling and advertising changes to protect consumers on a going-

25 ¹ All capitalized terms have the same definition as provided in the Settlement Agreement, unless otherwise specified.

26 ² Defendant does not oppose the Final Approval of the Settlement. Pursuant to the Court’s August 3, 2023 Order, 27 Plaintiff’s request for Award of Attorneys’ Fees and Costs is also included within the instant brief infra Section VI.
28 Defendant remains free to oppose to Plaintiffs’ request for Award of Attorneys’ Fees and Class Representative Service Award as, discussed infra, there is no “clear sailing” provision in the Settlement Agreement.

1 forward basis. In all respects, the Settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable. As such, final approval 2 should be granted.

3 Moreover, Class Counsel respectfully seek $171,520.07 in attorney’s fees which represents 4 21% of the common fund and a 44% reduction in their lodestar to date. Class Counsel have dedicated 5 themselves to this matter, incurring to date a lodestar based on current billing rates of $303,613.50 in 6 billable professional time, all without receiving any compensation in advance for their time and 7 efforts. The fees sought represents a negative “multiplier” of .56 which is even lower than the range 8 of positive multipliers often approved in similar cases. In sum, Class Counsel’s fees requested are 9 reasonable in light of the risks assumed by Class Counsel by taking on a complex case with no 10 assurance of compensation for their work, and by achieving an outstanding result.

11 Class Counsel have additionally incurred $28,479.93 in out-of-pocket litigation costs and 12 expenses, which, without a victory, would go uncompensated. The requested costs were all 13 reasonably incurred and necessary for the prosecution of this matter, such as fees to Amazon for 14 providing direct notice and to compensate the Hon. Louis M. Meisinger, who served as a mediator in 15 this matter.

16 Finally, Plaintiff was actively involved in the investigation, negotiation, and settlement of this 17 matter and contributed substantial personal time to pursuing its resolution. Such commitment is 18 regularly rewarded by the courts in putative class action cases. As such, Plaintiff now respectfully 19 seeks $1,500 as a service award, to compensate her for her time and efforts in bringing this matter to 20 a resolution.

21 Accordingly, the class should be certified for the purposes of settlement and the requested 22 fees, costs, and expenses are reasonable and should be awarded in full.

23 II. THE SETTLEMENT TERMS

24 A. The Settlement Class

25 The Settlement Class is defined as:

26 All Persons who purchased any of the Covered Products in the United States, its 27 territories, or at any United States military facility or exchange during the Class

1 Period.
2 Decl. of Lisa Omoto in Supp. of Pl.’s Mot. for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement (“Omoto
3 Decl.”) ¶ 3, Ex. 1, Art. I, ¶ JJ.

4 Excluded from the Settlement Class are: counsel of record (and their respective law firms) for 5 the Parties; the Honorable David S. Cohn; Mediator Louis M. Meisinger, and their employees, legal 6 representatives, heirs, successors, assigns, or any members of their immediate family; any 7 government entity; Defendant, any entity in which Defendant has a controlling interest, any of 8 Defendant’s subsidiaries, parents, affiliates, and officers, directors, employees, legal representatives, 9 predecessors in interest, heirs, successors, or assigns, or any members of their immediate family; and 10 any Persons who timely opt-out of the Settlement Class. Id.

11 B. The Settlement Consideration

12 1. Monetary Relief

13 The Settlement provides for substantial restitution to Settlement Class Members. Defendant
14 has agreed to pay a total Settlement Amount of $800,000.00, part of which will be available to pay 15 claims made by eligible Settlement Class Members (“Authorized Claimants”). Id. Art. I, ¶ K. Proof
16 of purchase is not required for this payment. Id. Art. III, ¶ D.1. Authorized Claimants shall be paid 17 from the “Residual Settlement Amount.” Id. Art I, ¶¶ D.3-4. The Residual Settlement Amount is 18 $800,000 (the Settlement Amount) minus: (a) the amount paid as a service award to the Plaintiff (not 19 more than $1,500); (b) the cost of claims administration (estimated to be at most $170,000); and (c) 20 the amount awarded as attorneys’ fees and costs to the lawyers representing Plaintiff and the 21 Settlement Class (not to exceed 25% of the gross Settlement Amount). Id. Art. I, ¶ GG.

22 2. Changes To The Labeling And Advertising Of The Covered Products

23 In addition to monetary relief, Defendant has agreed to substantial equitable in the form of 24 changes to the labeling and marketing of the Covered Products. Defendant will, for no less than five 25 (5) years, cease to use the word “Austria” or the Austrian flag on any of the Mueller-branded products, 26 its packaging, labeling, and/or its online marketing, including but not limited to its Mueller-branded
27 products listings on third-party retail sites such as Amazon.com and websites maintained by Aterian

1 (including muellerdirect.com). Id., Art. III, ¶ D.5. This relief is separate and in addition to the 2 monetary compensation provided by the Settlement Fund, and the costs related to the labelling and 3 advertisement changes are bore entirely by the Defendant.

4 C. Release By The Settlement Class

5 In consideration for the monetary and equitable relief outlined above, Plaintiff and Settlement
6 Class Members will release the claims alleged or arising out of the Complaint in this action. Id., Art.
7 I, ¶ FF; Art. III ¶ C. This release is appropriate as it is narrowly tailored to encompass only the claims 8 at issue in this action, and expressly excludes claims for personal injury or claims to enforce the 9 Settlement Agreement. Id. See e.g., Gonzalez-Tzita v. City of L.A., No. CV 16-0194 FMO (Ex), 2019
10 WL 7790440, at *10 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2019) (considering “whether the settlement contains an overly 11 broad release of liability” and deciding that because “the settlement class members are not giving up 12 claims unrelated to those asserting in [the] action . . . the release adequately balances fairness to 13 plaintiffs and the absent class members with defendant’s’ [sic] interest in ending this litigation.”); see 14 also Spann v. J.C. Penney Corp., 314 F.R.D. 312, 327-28 (C.D. Cal. 2016) (finding that the settlement 15 release was adequate where it only released claims related to the subject matter of the litigation).³

16 III. NOTICE TO THE CLASS AND CLAIMS ADMINISTRATION

17 A. Direct Email Notice Program

18 To administer the Settlement and provide notice to the Class, the Parties retained A.B. Data 19 Settlement Administration LLC (“A.B. Data”), the legal notice and claims administration firm 20 appointed by the Court in its Preliminary Approval Order at ¶¶ 12-14.

21 To reach Settlement Class Members, the Settlement Administrator disseminated a copy of the 22 Direct Email Notice to the Settlement Class Members who purchased Covered Products on the 23 muellerdirect.com website via email, with a delivery confirmation rate in excess of 98% of Settlement 24 Class Members. See Rovertoni Decl. ¶¶ 5-7. Additionally, Plaintiff’s counsel paid for Amazon to 7 and others have found in the past that direct notice given to the consumers indeed constitutes the “best 8 practicable” notice to the Settlement Class. See Secola v. Pressed Juicery, LLC, No. CIVDS1709347, 9 2018 WL 9439413, at *1 (San Bernardino Super. Ct. July 2, 2018) (D. Cohn) (granting final approval

14 (describing direct notice as “gold standard for class notice.”)

15 1. Publication Notice, Settlement Website, Toll-Free Telephone Support, And 16 Incoming Mail

17 In compliance with the Settlement Agreement and California’s Consumers Legal Remedies
18 Act (“CLRA”), Civil Code § 1750, et seq., summary publication notice was published four times over 19 the course of four weeks in the San Bernardino Sun. See Omoto Decl. ¶ 3, Ex. 1, Art. V, ¶ A.5.; 20 Rovertoni Decl. ¶ 8. A.B. Data also maintained a Settlement Website dedicated to the settlement and 21 claims process, where Settlement Class Members were able to review a summary of the case, 22 Settlement Class Member rights and options, copies of the Long-Form Notice and relevant pleadings, 23 important dates, any pertinent updates concerning the Action, and the ability to submit a Claim Form
24 electronically. Rovertoni Decl. ¶ 9. A.B. Data also maintained a toll-free number that Settlement 25 Class Members could call to obtain general information about the case and request a hardcopy of the 26 Long Form Notice and Claim Form. See id. ¶ 12.

1 2. Identification And Verification Of Suspicious Claims

2 In appointing A.B. Data as Settlement Administrator, The Parties' Settlement Agreement 3 stated in part that,

4 "The Settlement Administrator shall use good faith and appropriate procedures to 5 prevent, detect, and reject the payment of Fraudulent Claims and ensure payment of 6 only legitimate claims. The Settlement Administrator shall notify the claimant via mail
7 or email of the rejection.... If any claimant whose Claim Form has been rejected fails 8 to respond to the Settlement Administrator within twenty-one (21) calendar days from 9 receipt of the rejection, the rejection shall be deemed final and valid. The Settlement 10 Administrator, in consultation with Defendant's Counsel and Class Counsel, shall 11 notify the Claimant of its decision within ten (10) business days from receipt of the 12 Claimant's reply contesting the rejection."

13 Omoto Decl. ¶ 3, Ex. 1, Art. VI, ¶ E.

14 Importantly, the claims process includes a court-approved verification and fraud detection 15 process conducted by the Settlement Administrator, designed to reduce the risk of invalid and/or 16 fraudulent claims. See Rovertoni Decl. ¶¶ 14-15. In conjunction with this duty, the Settlement 17 Administrator takes proactive steps to identify and reject fraudulent claims filed by so-called artificial 18 intelligence based "bots."⁴ Id. Indeed, the Settlement Administrator estimates that at least 90% of 19 the claims received are in fact the result of fraud. Id. ¶ 15. Once the identification process is 20 completed and A.B. Data has verified and eliminated any fraudulent claims, the Parties and A.B. Data 21 will report to the Court on the outcome, including the number of valid verified claims to be allowed 22 and the number of invalid claims to be disallowed. The identification process is designed to be simple 23 for humans to complete, thus eliminating only "bot" claims and protecting the interests of bona fide 24

25 _____
26 ⁴ "Bots are computer generated claims that are completed using a variety of techniques including IP spoofing, random 27 name, address, telephone, and email generation for the purpose of receiving multiple distributions from a single 28 settlement. Whereas bot claims are created using different information for each claim, these claims cannot be tracked in a database of known fraudulent filers." See Rovertoni Decl. ¶ 14 n.1

1 class members. Pending the outcome of the verification process, however, it would be premature to 2 draw any final conclusions as to the actual number of valid claims.

3 IV. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT FINAL APPROVAL OF THE SETTLEMENT

4 A. Legal Standards For Final Approval

5 Rule 3.769 of the California Rules of Court sets forth the procedures for approval of class
6 action settlements in California. Cellphone Termination Fee Cases, 104 Cal.Rptr.3d 275, 281 (Cal.
7 Ct. App. 2009). To grant final approval the Court ultimately must determine that the settlement is 8 fair, adequate, and reasonable. California Rules of Court, Rule 3.769(g); see also In re Microsoft I-V
9 Cases, 37 Cal.Rptr.3d 660, 673 (Cal. Ct. App. 2006); and Dunk v. Ford Motor Co., 56 Cal.Rptr.2d 10 483 (Cal. Ct. App. 1996). In reaching that determination courts in California consider whether the 11 settlement is entitled to (1) a presumption of fairness and (2) whether the settlement is reasonable.

12 A settlement is entitled to a presumption of fairness when: (1) the settlement is reached 13 through arm's length bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow the court and 14 counsel to act intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the percentage of 15 objectors is small. Id. at p. 1802

16 In addition, to determine whether a settlement is reasonable the court may consider the 17 following factors to the extent relevant:

18 "...the strength of the plaintiffs' case, the risk, expense, complexity and duration of 19 further litigation as a class action, the amount offered in settlement, the extent of 20 discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings, the experience and views of 21 counsel, the presence of a governmental participant, and the reaction of class members 22 to the proposed settlement."

23 In re Microsoft, 37 Cal.Rptr.3d at 673.

24 This list of factors is not exclusive nor is it mandatory, and the court is free to engage in 25 balancing and weighing of factors depending on the circumstances of the case. Dunk, 56 Cal.Rptr.2d
26 at 488-89. "In short, the trial court may not determine the adequacy of a class action settlement 27

1 without independently satisfying itself that the consideration being received for the release of the 2 class members' claims is reasonable in light of the strengths and weaknesses of the claims and the 3 risks of the particular litigation.” Luckey v. Sup. Ct., 174 Cal. Rptr. 3d 906, 916 (Cal. Ct. App. 2014) 4 (internal citations omitted).

5 In performing these inquires, “[d]ue regard . . . should be given to what is otherwise a private 6 consensual agreement between the parties.” 7-Eleven Owners for Fair Franchising v. Southland
7 Corp., 102 Cal.Rptr.2d 777 (Cal Ct. App. 2000) (internal quotation marks omitted). California courts 8 favor settlement, particularly in class actions and other complex cases in which substantial resources
9 can be conserved by avoiding the time, cost, and rigors of formal litigation. See In re Microsoft, 37
10 Cal.Rptr.3d at 673 n.14 (“Public policy generally favors the compromise of complex class action 11 litigation.”); 7-Eleven Owners, 102 Cal.Rptr.2d at 787 (noting that voluntary settlement is the 12 preferred means of dispute resolution); Stambaugh v. Super. Ct. of Sonoma Cty., 132 Cal.Rptr. 843, 13 846 (Cal. Ct. App. 1976)(collecting cases supporting proposition that compromises are preferable to 14 continued litigation).

15 B. The Proposed Settlement Is Entitled To A Presumption Of Fairness

16 1. The Settlement Was The Product Of Arms-Length Negotiations By Counsel

17 The Settlement Agreement was the product of arms-length negotiations between counsel for 18 the Parties, who are experienced consumer class action practitioners. Omoto Decl. ¶ 4. In reaching 19 the Settlement Agreement, Plaintiff’s counsel reviewed and analyzed relevant law and facts to assess 20 the merits of the claims, and determined based on their findings, the best way to serve the interests of 21 the Settlement Class. Omoto Decl. ¶ 10. Plaintiff’s counsel also attended a full-day mediation with 22 the Hon. Louis Meisinger, Ret., of Signature Resolution, who oversaw and helped facilitate a good 23 faith resolution of this action. Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc., 85 Cal.Rptr.3d 20, 30 (Cal. Ct. App.
24 2008) (“The court undoubtedly should give considerable weight to the competency and integrity of 25 counsel and the involvement of a neutral mediator in assuring itself that a settlement agreement 26 represents an arm’s length transaction entered without self-dealing or other potential misconduct.”).
27 As a result, counsel for the Parties endorse the proposed Settlement Agreement. As courts have noted,

1 the endorsement of counsel is entitled to great weight following arms-length settlement negotiations.
2 See Nat'l Rural Telecomms. Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 526 (C.D. Cal. 2004) (“Parties
3 represented by competent counsel are better positioned than courts to produce a settlement that fairly 4 reflects each party's expected outcome in the litigation”); DeStefano v. Zynga, Inc., No. 12-cv-04007-
5 JSC, 2016 WL 537946, at *9 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 11, 2016) (citation omitted) (“[U]nless the settlement
6 is clearly inadequate, its acceptance and approval are preferable to lengthy and expensive litigation
7 with uncertain results.”). Indeed, absent a finding of fraud or collusion, settlement agreements
8 negotiated and endorsed by experienced counsel are presumptively fair and reasonable. See Dunk, 9 56 Cal.Rptr.2d at 488. Thus, the evidence demonstrates that the proposed Settlement is the product 10 of serious, informed, non-collusive negotiations and there is no question that the Settlement was 11 reached through extensive, arms-length bargaining.

12 2. The Extent of Investigation and Discovery Completed

13 The Parties engaged in extensive pre-litigation investigation and informal discovery and 14 evaluated the factual strengths and weaknesses of this case before agreeing to the Settlement.
15 Throughout this case, Class Counsel engaged in sufficient discovery and investigation to evaluate the 16 merits and risks associated with the prosecution of this matter, including engaging in independent 17 research, review and evaluation of documents and data produced by Defendant. Class Counsel was 18 sufficiently informed of the nature of the claims and defenses and was in an ideal position to evaluate 19 the Settlement for fairness, adequacy, and reasonableness at the time of the mediation. Class Counsel 20 believes the Settlement is in the best interest of the Class. The Settlement came only after the case
21 was fully investigated by Class Counsel and the litigation had reached the stage where “the Parties 22 certainly have a clear view of the strengths and weaknesses of their cases” to support the Settlement.
23 (Boyd v. Bechtel Corp., 485 F.Supp. 610, 617 (N.D. Cal. 1979)).

24 3. Counsel Is Experienced In Similar Litigation

25 As set forth in the declaration of Lisa Omoto, Class Counsel is competent and experienced in 26 the representation of consumers in class action litigation. See Omoto Decl. ¶¶ 7-9, Ex. 2 (Firm 27 Resume). Class Counsel is particularly experienced in litigation involving false advertising claims

1 and claims regarding misrepresentations relating to the geographic origin of the product, such as the 2 Covered Products here. Id. See, e.g., Hesse v. Godiva Chocolatier, Inc., 463 F.Supp.3d 453 (S.D.N.Y.
3 2020)(involving chocolate misrepresented as being made in Belgium); Broomfield v. Craft Brew 4 Alliance, Inc., No. 17-CV-01027-BLF, 2020 WL 1972505, at *1 (N.D. Cal Feb. 5, 2020)(involving 5 beer misrepresented as being made in Hawaii); Shalika v. Asahi Beer U.S.A., Inc., No. LA CV17-
6 02713 JAK (JPRx), 2017 WL 9362139, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 16, 2017)(involving beer misrepresented
7 as being made in Japan). Further, Class Counsel’s experience with these claims have given them
8 first-hand experience as to the risks and rewards of continued litigation. Accordingly, Class 9 Counsel’s assessment is entitled to great weight, and strongly supports final approval of the 10 Settlement. See Dunk, 56 Cal.Rptr.2d at 488; and Kullar, 85 Cal.Rptr.3d at 30.

11 4. There Is Virtually No Opposition To The Settlement

12 In the case of few opt-outs and/or objectors, courts have uniformly held that such settlements
13 are fair and adequate. See Chavez v. Netflix, Inc., 75 Cal.Rptr.3d 413, 423 (Cal. Ct. App. 2018); 7-14 Eleven Owners, 102 Cal.Rptr.2d at 788-789 (80 out of 5,454 class members objecting). Here, after 15 extensive notice, there was only one objection and only twenty-three opt-outs to date. Rovertoni
16 Decl. ¶¶ 16-17. Plaintiff will provide finalized figures of valid claims in supplemental briefing before 17 the final approval hearing. This factor weighs heavily in favor of settlement approval and the Court 18 should find that the “presumption of fairness” applies in this case.

19 C. The Settlement Is Fair, Adequate, And Reasonable

20 1. The Strength Of Plaintiff’s Case And The Risk, Expense, Complexity And 21 Likely Duration Of Further Litigation

22 To assess the adequacy of a class action settlement, the Court should weigh the risk inherent 23 in continued litigation against the immediacy and certainty of substantial settlement proceeds. See 24 Dunk, 56 Cal.Rptr.2d at 488-89; Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 110 Cal.Rptr.2d 145, 163 (Cal.
25 Ct. App. 2001)(“The proposed settlement is not to be judged against a hypothetical or speculative 26 measure of what might have been achieved had plaintiffs prevailed at trial.”).

1 Although Plaintiff believes her case is strong, such confidence must be tempered by the fact 2 that the Settlement is beneficial (providing a significant immediate return) and that there are 3 significant risks of lesser or no recovery, particularly in a complex case such as this one. Class
4 Counsel is convinced that the Settlement is in the best interests of the Class based on the negotiations
5 and detailed knowledge of the issues presented. Omoto Decl. ¶ 10. In negotiating the Settlement, 6 Class Counsel carefully considered the injunctive relief and the compensation to Settlement Class
7 Members; specifically, Class Counsel balanced the Settlement against the possible outcomes of a trial
8 on the merits. Id. The risks of trial and the normal “perils” of litigation were all weighed in reaching 9 the Settlement. Id. ¶ 11. Here, litigating the case through to trial would have been expensive, required 10 extensive resources, involved substantial risk, and would not have been fully resolved for years. Id.
11 ¶¶ 12-13. Further, given Class Counsel’s experience with geographic origin litigation in which no 12 benefit was provided to the class due to the court granting defendant’s motion to dismiss or denying 13 class certification, Plaintiff is confident that the settlement in this case is fair and reasonable.

14 Even if Plaintiff had expended the time and resources litigating the case to trial and prevailed, 15 the Class would face additional risks if Defendant decided to appeal or move for a new trial.
16 Moreover, a trial would likely not commence for a few years. Omoto Decl. ¶ 11. Thus, any monetary 17 and injunctive relief that could have been obtained at trial, which is not guaranteed and likely would 18 not be as substantial as what Plaintiff has achieved with this Settlement, would probably be delayed
19 for at least a few years. Id. In the meantime, Defendant would be permitted to continue to deceptively 20 package the Covered Products with impunity to the financial detriment of Settlement Class Members.
21 By contrast, the Settlement provides significant and certain relief that is available now as opposed to 22 a fraction of this recovery potentially and hypothetically in the distant future.

23 Additionally, the monetary and injunctive relief is structured to account for the substantial 24 risk that Defendant may be incapable of paying a financial award in the future should the case
25 continue through further litigation. Further, the uncertain financial status of the Defendant identified 26 in Plaintiff’s Motion for Preliminary Approval has not improved. In its most recent Quarterly Report 27

1 Class Counsel also carefully considered the time value of the present settlement, the fact that 2 changes will be made to the Covered Products’ labeling and advertising, and the monetary relief that 3 will be provided to members of the Class. Omoto Decl. ¶ 13. This settlement also creates an 4 enforceable legal obligation with respect to those changes. Id. Because the Settlement provides 5 immediate and significant relief, without the attendant risks of continued litigation, the Court should 6 approve the Settlement as fair, reasonable, and adequate.

7 2. The Amount Offered and Claimed in Settlement

8 This factor favors granting approval of the Settlement. The monetary and injunctive relief 9 offered in the Settlement Agreement is more than fair compensation for the Settlement Class. It is 10 well-established that “the merits of the underlying class claims are not a basis for upsetting the 11 settlement of a class action.” Wershba, 110 Cal.Rptr.2d at 163. Indeed, “even if ‘the relief afforded 12 by the proposed settlement is substantially narrower than it would be if the suits were to be 13 successfully litigated,’ this is no bar to a class action settlement because ‘the public interest may 14 indeed be served by a voluntary settlement in which each side gives ground in the interest of avoiding 15 litigation.’” Id. At 166.

16 As discussed in Plaintiff’s Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Plaintiff’s 17 Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement (the “Mot.”), the expense to prosecute 18 this case would have been substantial, especially in light of the need for expert testimony from 19 multiple disciplines (consumer perception, damages, etc.). See Omoto Decl. ¶ 12. Were this case to 20 proceed, costs would quickly accumulate as a result of discovery, motion practice, and expert fees.
21 Id. The additional accumulation of such costs could quickly lead to a scenario in which settlement 22 might not be economically feasible for either party. Id.

23 Further, were Plaintiffs to proceed to and succeed at trial, the “best case” recovery may not be 24 better than the Settlement remedy. As outlined in Plaintiff’s preliminary approval motion, Settlement 25 Class Members are recovering a significant portion of the price of each Covered Product, and are 26 receiving adequate compensation from the Settlement. Mot. 23; Rovertoni Decl. ¶ 20. If the Parties 27

1 were to litigate the case on its merits, the possibility of the Settlement Class Members receiving 2 similar monetary relief is low, especially given that Defendant will challenge liability and damages.
3 The Court should also consider the value that the Settlement Agreement’s injunctive relief provides,
4 as the risk of continued litigation also includes the possibility that Settlement class Members, and the 5 general public, will not receive that benefit. See Colgan v. Leatherman Tool Grp., Inc., 38 Cal.Rptr.3d
6 36, 65 (Cal. Ct. App. 2006) (stating that “[t]he lawsuits also resulted in a significant benefit for a
7 substantial number of people by causing [Defendant] to change its labeling and advertising practices
8 and by enjoining it from making future misleading representations.”); see also Brazil v. Dell Inc., No.
9 C-07-01700 RMW, 2012 WL 1144303, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 4, 2012) (finding that the “benefits
10 achieved by Class Counsel . . . come in the form of structural changes to [Defendant]’s advertising 11 practices[.]”). As discussed above, the alternative – continued litigation – carries numerous risks that 12 would likely lead to a lesser benefit to the Settlement Class. Indeed, if Defendants continue with 13 costly litigation, funds potentially available for class compensation could instead be devoted to 14 mounting legal fees. As such, cessation of litigation efforts is a benefit for the Class.

15 Here, as noted above, over 95% of potential class members received direct notice of the 16 settlement. Following the claims administration verification process, the Parties’ supplemental 17 briefing will include a breakdown of the amount of meritorious claims received, which the Parties 18 and Settlement Administrator are confident will be in keeping with approved claim rates in this and 19 other jurisdictions.

20 3. The Extent of Discovery Completed And The Stage Of Proceedings

21 As discussed in Section IV.b.1 of this motion, Plaintiff and Class Counsel have conducted 22 extensive pre-litigation investigations into all corners of this case, becoming well-equipped with the 23 information necessary to act intelligently on behalf of the Settlement Class. See also 7-Eleven, 102 24 Cal.Rptr.2d at 787 (stating that it “is not the law” that settling a class action requires completing 25 discovery, and that formal discovery is not required where the parties “had sufficient information to 26 make an informed decision about settlement.”) (quoting Linney v. Cellular Alaska P’ship, 151 F.3d 27

1 1234, 1239-40 (9th Cir. 1998); see also Stewart v. Applied Materials, Inc., No. 15-CV-02632-JST, 2 2017 WL 3670711, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 25, 2017) (finding that the parties engaged in sufficient 3 discovery “by ‘the sharing of information through an informal discovery process,’” which allowed 4 counsel to negotiate a fair and reasonable settlement). Here, Class Counsel had sufficient information 5 to make an informed decision about the settlement and is confident that it is fair, adequate, and 6 reasonable and therefore merits granting final approval.

7 4. The Experience And Views Of Counsel

8 As discussed in Sections IV.B.2, counsel for both Parties are experienced and respected class
9 action attorneys and believe the settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable. Class Counsel’s 10 endorsement is entitled to great weight following arms-length settlement negotiations. See DIRECTV, 11 221 F.R.D. at 528 (“‘Great weight’ is accorded to the recommendation of counsel, who are most 12 closely acquainted with the facts of the underlying litigation.”) (internal quotation marks omitted).
13 Indeed, as the DIRECTV court explained, counsel “are better positioned than courts to produce a 14 settlement that fairly reflects each party’s expected outcome in the litigation.” Id. (quoting In re 15 Pacific Enters. Sec. Litig., 47 F.3d 373, 378 (9th Cir. 1995)). As such, absent a finding of fraud or 16 collusion, settlement agreements negotiated and endorsed by experienced counsel are presumptively 17 fair and reasonable. See Dunk, 56 Cal.Rptr.2d at 488.

18 The Parties are in favor of settlement, as evidenced by the many months of negotiation leading 19 up to the Settlement. Class Counsel is highly capable and experienced in class action and consumer 20 litigation and, in particular, geographic origin false advertising class action litigation. See Omoto 21 Decl. ¶¶ 7-9, Ex. 2. By virtue of its investigation, Class Counsel was also able to thoroughly evaluate 22 the respective strengths and weaknesses of their positions, as well as the extent of available recovery.
23 Class Counsel worked diligently to secure the best possible result for the Class through vigorous, 24 arms-length negotiations. Class Counsel’s views and recommendations concerning the Settlement 25 are the product of a thorough analysis and consideration of the issues and risks of continued litigation.
26 Class Counsel believes that the results achieved by the Settlement are eminently fair, adequate and 27

1 2019)(finding that opt outs representing less than 1% and zero objections was “strong evidence” of 2 the reasonableness and fairness of this settlement.).

3 6. The Lack of A Governmental Participant

4 Because there is no governmental participant or objection in this class action, this factor
5 should weigh in favor of approval. See Ehret v. Uber Techs., Inc., No. 3:14-cv-113-EMC, 2017 WL
6 11680856, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 16, 2017)(noting the lack of a governmental agency objection favors 7 settlement approval); Emerson v. Frazee Indus., Inc., No. 13cv2816 (BLM), 2015 WL 13828596, at 8 *3 (S.D. Cal. May 4, 2015) (finding that “even though there is no governmental participant in the 9 present action, the failure of any Attorney General to object to the proposed settlement supports this 10 Court’s final approval of the proposed settlement.”).

11 D. Notice To The Class Was Thorough And Fulfilled Due Process

12 In assessing notice in a class action settlement, “[t]he standard is whether the notice has a 13 ‘reasonable chance of reaching a substantial percentage of the class members.’” Wershba, 110
14 Cal.Rptr.2d at 167. However, it is not necessary to show that notice reached each member of a 15 nationwide class. Id. Moreover, the Court has a great deal of discretion in applying this standard.
16 See Chavez, 75 Cal.Rptr.3d at 428 (“[T]he manner of giving notice is subject to the trial court’s 17 virtually complete discretion.”).

18 Here, the Parties are in the unique position of being able to provide almost perfect notice to the 19 class members. Because the overwhelming majority of Defendant’s customers purchased their items 20 via Amazon.com, and the Parties were able to arrange direct email notification to the consumers, 21 notice here exceeded 95% of the Settlement Class at a fraction of the usual cost. The Parties were 22 able to save a significant portion of the settlement fund which could have been depleted on expensive 23 ad campaigns on billboards, on social media, and via postcard campaigns as is often required in other 24 class actions.

25 As the Court determined in granting preliminary approval, the class notice designed for this 26 action more than meets the applicable due process requirements. It has now been executed by the 27 Settlement Administrator and Amazon as planned and in accordance with the specific notice plan

1 approved by the Court, and successfully notified Settlement Class Members of the Settlement. Indeed, 2 based on the robust notice plan implemented, over 95% of the Settlement Class was given direct 3 notice of the Settlement. Rovertoni Decl. ¶¶ 5-7. Courts regularly acknowledge that far less thorough 4 notice plans are adequate. See, e.g., In re JUUL Labs, Inc., Mktg., Sales Pracs., & Prods. Liab. Litig.,
5 No. 19-md-02913-WHO, 2023 WL 6205473, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 19, 2023)(finding that notice plan
6 provided “best practicable notice” and satisfied due process where at least 80% of Settlement Class
7 Members were reached); Testone v. Barlean's Organic Oils, LLC, No. 3:19-cv-00169-RBM-BGS, 8 2023 WL 2375246, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 6, 2023)(approving notice plan with reach of 71% of class 9 members nationwide). Accordingly, this factor weighs in favor of final approval.

10 V. The Court Should Confirm Certification Of The Class For Purposes of the Settlement

11 In granting preliminary approval of the settlement, the Court has already determined that the 12 settlement Class meets the requirements for certification under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 382 in that: (1) 13 the Class is so numerous that joinder is impractical; (2) there are questions of law and fact that are 14 common, or of general interest, to the Class, which predominate over any individual issues; (3) 15 Plaintiff’s claims are typical of the claims of the Class; (4) Plaintiff and her counsel will fairly and 16 adequately protect the interests of the Class; and (5) a class action is superior to other available
17 methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy. See Preliminary Approval Order ¶ 18 6. Before doing so, this Court carefully scrutinized the Class Action Settlement Agreement and 19 Release, which sets forth the material terms of the Settlement. In the absence of any new evidence 20 that requires revisiting the issue, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court confirm certification of 21 the Settlement Class. “[W]hen the question is one of a common or general interest, of many persons, 22 or when the parties are numerous, and it is impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or 23 more may sue or defend for benefit of all.” Cal. Code Civ. P. § 382. Indeed, the judicial policy of 24 California is to favor the maintenance of class actions. Richmond v. Dart Indus., Inc., 29 Cal.3d 462, 25 473 (Cal. 1981) (“This state has a public policy which encourages the use of the class action device.”).

1 A. The Class Is Ascertainable And Sufficiently Numerous

2 A class is ascertainable “when it is defined ‘in terms of objective characteristics and common 3 transactional facts’ that make ‘the ultimate identification of class members possible when that identification
4 becomes necessary.’” Noel v. Thrifty Payless, Inc., 445 P.3d 626, 634 (Cal. 2019). Here, the Settlement 5 Class is defined based on objective criteria, as it includes all customers who purchased a product from 6 Defendant during the Class Period, and their identity is readily available through sales records kept by 7 both Defendant and Amazon. The Class is also sufficiently numerous, as it is comprised of customers
8 numbered in the millions. See Pool v. Ameripark, LLC, No. 19cv1103-LAB (WVG), 2022 WL
9 848322, at *3 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 22, 2022)(finding a settlement class of 1,024 sufficiently numerous 10 that “joinder of all members is impracticable.”).

11 B. There Is A Community of Interest

12 The “community of interest” requirement embodies three factors: (a) predominant common 13 questions of law or fact; (b) class representatives with claims or defenses typical of the class; and 14 (c) class representatives who can adequately represent the class. Richmond, 29 Cal.3d at 470. All of these factors are met here.

15 1. Common Issues Of Law And Fact Predominate

16 The commonality criterion requires the existence of a common question of law or fact and is 17 generally established with the issues of predominance and typicality. See Daar v. Yellow Cab Co., 67 18 Cal.2d 695, 713-14 (Cal. 1967). All that is required is a common question of fact or law exists which 19 predominates over issues unique to individual plaintiffs. The existence of individual issues or facts is 20 not a bar to class certification as long as they do not render class litigation unmanageable or 21 predominate over the common issues. See B.W.I. Custom Kitchen v. Owens-Illinois, Inc., 235
22 Cal.Rptr. 228, 236 (Cal. Ct. App. 1987) (“presence of individual damage issues cannot bar 23 certification”). Here, Plaintiff’s claims present sufficient common issues of law and fact that 24 predominate over individual issues and warrant class certification. For example, Plaintiff alleges that 25 Defendant’s labelling practices, which were uniform across all products in the Class Period, were 26 deceptive and misleading regarding the geographic origin of the Products. Accordingly, the 27

1 commonality requirement is satisfied.

2 2. Plaintiff's Claims Are Typical Of The Claims Of The Class

3 To satisfy the typicality requirement, California law does not require that a plaintiff have 4 claims identical to the other class members. Rather, the test of typicality for a class representative is 5 whether other members have the same or similar injury, whether the action is based on conduct which 6 is not unique to the named plaintiff, and whether other class members have been injured by the same 7 course of conduct. See Seastrom v. Neways, Inc., 57 Cal.Rptr.3d 903, 908 (Cal. Ct. App. 2007). As 8 the claims of Plaintiff and Class Members are based on the same legal theories, and arise out of the 9 same misleading practices, the typicality requirement is satisfied.

10 3. Plaintiff Will Fairly And Adequately Represent The Class

11 The question of adequacy of representation “depends on whether the plaintiff’s attorney is 12 qualified to conduct the proposed litigation in the plaintiff’s interest or not antagonistic to the 13 interests of the class.” McGhee v. Bank of America, 131 Cal.Rptr. 482, 487 (Cal. Ct. App. 1976).
14 These considerations are satisfied here, as Plaintiff’s counsel are attorneys who are qualified and 15 experienced in consumer class litigation, particularly as it pertains to the geographic origin of the 16 product. Further, because Plaintiff’s claims are typical of other Class Members and are not based 17 on unique circumstances that might jeopardize the claims of the Class, there is no antagonism 18 between the interests of Plaintiff and those of the Class. Indeed, in granting preliminary approval, 19 the Court has already determined that Plaintiff and her Counsel can adequately represent the Class.
20 Plaintiff and Class Counsel have continued to diligently represent the Class since then.

21 C. Proceeding As A Class Action Is Superior To Individual Actions

22 Under the circumstances, proceeding as a class action is a superior means of resolving this 23 dispute. Class certification is the most efficient means of affording compensation to the Class, to 24 resolve their claims in one fell swoop, and to deter future violations of the CLRA. See Linder v.
25 Thrifty Oil Co., 23 Cal.4th 429, 434 (Cal. 2000). Further, individual actions arising out of the same 26 operative facts would unduly burden the courts and could produce inconsistent results, which may be 27 avoided by class certification. Finally, the monetary value of the individual actions is not substantial,

1 and the resolution on a class-wide basis is a superior remedy than litigating millions of small claims
2 nationwide. See Fitzhenry-Russell v. Dr. Pepper Snapple Grp., Inc., 326 F.R.D. 592, 616 (N.D. Cal.
3 2018)(“[A] class action is superior because in the absence of a class action, no individual plaintiff 4 would file suit because the amounts at issue for each class member would likely be a few dollars.”);
5 Bruno v. Quten Rsch. Inst., LLC, 280 F.R.D. 524, 537 (C.D. Cal. 2011) “Given the small size of each 6 class member's claim, class treatment is not merely the superior, but the only manner in which to 7 ensure fair and efficient adjudication of the present action.”)

8 VI. REQUEST FOR ATTORNEY’S FEES AND COSTS

9 A. Class Counsel Is Entitled To An Award Of Reasonable Attorneys’ Fees and 10 Expenses Under The Common Fund Doctrine

11 When a class action case results in class relief, whether by settlement or by contested
12 judgment, class counsel is entitled to its reasonable fees for services. Lealao v. Beneficial Cal., 97
13 Cal.Rptr.2d 797, 803-809 (Cal. Ct. App. 2000); Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 34-48 (Cal. 1977).
14 The award for reasonable attorney’s fees should also include reimbursement for litigation expenses
15 reasonably incurred. Bussey v. Affleck, 275 Cal.Rptr. 646, 648 (Cal. Ct. App. 1990). The common 16 fund doctrine provides that when a settlement or adjudication results in the establishment of a 17 common fund for the benefit of a class, fees may be awarded to the attorneys creating the benefits as 18 a matter of equity. Lealao, supra, at 27; Serrano, 20 Cal. 3d at 35.

19 Although American courts, in contrast to those of England, have never awarded 20 counsels’ fees as a routine component of costs, at least one exception to this rule has 21 become as well established as the rule itself: that one who expends attorneys’ fees in 22 winning a suit which creates a fund from which others derive benefits, may require 23 those passive beneficiaries to bear a fair share of the litigation costs. This, the so-called 24 ‘common fund’ exception to the American rule regarding the award of attorneys fees 25 (i.e., the rule set forth in section 1021 of our Code of Civil Procedure), is grounded in 26 ‘the historic power of equity to permit the trustee of a fund or property, or a party 27 preserving or recovering a fund for the benefit of others in addition to himself, to 28 recover his costs, including his attorneys’ fees, from the fund of property itself or 29 directly from the other parties enjoying the benefit.’

1 Serrano, 20 Cal. 3d at 35 (internal citations omitted).

2 Similarly, where litigation creates a “substantial benefit” for a class and where funds are 3 available for payment of attorneys’ fees for such benefits, class counsel is also entitled to fees for 4 creating that benefit. Serrano v. Unruh, 32 Cal. 3d 621, 627-32 (Cal. 1982); In re Sutter Health
5 Uninsured Pricing Cases, 89 Cal.Rptr.3d 615, 629 (Cal. Ct. App. 2009); Jordan v. Dep’t of Motor 6 Vehicles 123 Cal.Rptr.2d 122, 133-134 (Cal. Ct. App. 2002) (citation omitted).

7 B. Class Counsel Is Also Entitled to Fees Under The CLRA, Which Provides For A
8 Mandatory Award Of Attorneys’ Fees To The Prevailing Party

9 Plaintiff brought claims against Defendant under the California Consumers Legal Remedies
10 Act, Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1750, et seq. (the “CLRA”), which has its own attorneys’ fees provision. This 11 section mandates an award of attorneys’ fees and costs to a prevailing plaintiff. An award of attorneys’ 12 fees to the prevailing party is mandatory under Civil Code § 1780(d), which provides:

13 “The court shall award court costs and attorney’s fees to a prevailing plaintiff in 14 litigation filed pursuant to this section. . . .” “The word ‘shall’ is usually deemed 15 mandatory, unless a mandatory construction would not be consistent with the 16 legislative purpose underlying the statute.” Our Supreme Court has observed that “the 17 availability of costs and attorneys fees to prevailing plaintiffs is integral to making the 18 CLRA an effective piece of consumer legislation, increasing the financial feasibility 19 of bringing suits under the statute.” Thus, a mandatory construction of the word “shall” 20 in section 1780(d) is consistent with the legislative purpose underlying the statute.

21 Kim v. Euromotors West/The Auto Gallery, 56 Cal.Rptr.3d 780, 786 (Cal. Ct. App. 2007)(emphasis 22 in original)(internal citations omitted).

23 Plaintiff is the “prevailing plaintiff” under the CLRA because she has achieved her litigation 24 objectives of making Defendant change the labeling and advertising of the Covered Products to dispel 25 consumer deception, as well as negotiating monetary relief to consumers who bought the Covered 26 Products during the class period.

1 the requested attorneys' fees of $171,520.07 is included in the common fund of $800,000 when 2 valuing the settlement. This is particularly true when addressing what the California Supreme Court 3 has characterized as a "true common fund" with a fixed sum, "without any reversion to defendant and 4 with all settlement proceeds, net of specified fees and costs, going to pay claims by class members."
5 Laffitte, 376 P.3d at 687. Here, there will be no reversion to the Defendant as, per the Settlement
6 Agreement, the settlement fund will be distributed pro-rata in its entirety to the class members 7 accordingly once the claims have all been received, and fees and costs have been deducted.⁵

8 The $800,000 valuation of the Settlement Fund values the vouchers at their face value, or 100
9 cents on the dollar. See McKnight v. Hinojosa, 54 F.4th 1069, 1076 (9th Cir. 2022) (affirming district 10 court conclusion that credits issued to class members were not coupons where members had the option 11 to receive cash instead, the credits were valid for a range of products or services, and did not contain 12 a blackout date.); In re Groupon, Inc., Mktg. & Sales Pracs. Litig., No. 11md2238 DMS (RBB), 2012 13 WL 13175871, at *7 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 28, 2012)(including vouchers in the settlement valuation where 14 a two-tier settlement structure allowed members to opt for either cash or a voucher); Reibstein v. Rite 15 Aid Corp., 761 F.Supp.2d 241, 255–56 (E.D. Pa. 2011)(reasoning that gift cards provided to 16 customers which were freely transferrable, did not have an expiration date, and could be used on 17 many products at the buyer's discretion are "more like 'cash' than 'coupons.'") Here, the Settlement 18 Agreement offers class members an option to opt for cash payments or the vouchers. Further, the 19 vouchers are freely transferrable to others, may be combined, and have no expiration date, 20 distinguishing them from disfavored coupon settlements.

21 Finally, the Court should include the costs of notice and claims administration in the value of 22 the settlement, which is a common practice in the Ninth Circuit. See In re Online DVD-Rental 23 Antitrust Litig., 779 F.3d 934, 953 (9th Cir. 2015) ("[A]dministrative costs in particular make it 24 possible to distribute a settlement award in a meaningful and significant way.); In re Nat'l Collegiate 25

26 ⁵ Any check not cashed after 180 calendar days shall be dealt with in accordance and compliance with California Code 27 of Civil Procedure § 384.

1 Athletic Ass'n Athletic Grant-in-Aid Cap Antitrust Litig., 768 F. App'x 651, 654 (9th Cir. 2019) 2 (same).

3 Class Counsel solicited competitive bids from several qualified claims administrators to 4 ensure the administration process would optimize efficiency and value to the class, and paid for the 5 lion's share of the notice (effectuated by Amazon directly to over 95% of the class members) out of 6 pocket. Omoto Decl. ¶ 28. Once AB Data was identified as an ideal choice, the parties coordinated 7 with AB Data and Amazon to ensure that the Notice and Claims Administration would be thorough, 8 convenient for the class members, and efficient both in notice and in scrutinizing potentially 9 fraudulent claims, all of which benefits the Class and favors including the costs for notice and claims 10 administration in the value of the settlement.

11 In conjunction with Amazon, Plaintiff was able to provide direct notice to the class members 12 and mitigate the costs of potential advertising and notice campaigns. Claims could be submitted both 13 via mail and online, ensuring convenience for the class members. Finally, the Claims Administrator 14 is experienced in identifying fraudulent claims and confirming their authenticity or lack thereof, 15 ensuring that only bona fide claims are paid out, and increasing the monetary benefits of the 16 Settlement due to the pro-rata calculations. See Rovertoni Decl. ¶¶ 14-15. Accordingly, the value of 17 the settlement fund should be the full $800,000.

18 2. The Amount of the Fee Is Appropriate Under the Percentage of the Benefit 19 Approach

20 Once the size of the fund has been determined the next step in the analysis is to determine the 21 appropriate percentage of the fund to award in fees. A fee award of 25% “[i]s the “benchmark” award 22 that should be given in common fund cases.” Lealao, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d at 801 n. 1 (quoting Six Mexican 23 Workers v. Arizona Citrus Growers, 904 F.2d 1301, 1311 (9th Cir. 1990)). In determining whether 24 to deviate up or down from the benchmark, courts in California consider factors including: quality of 25 the representation, the novelty and complexity of the issues, the results obtained, and the contingent 26

1 risk presented. See Lealao, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d at 803. Although 25% is considered the benchmark, courts 2 frequently deviate upward to award 33% and even 40% in consumer class action settlements.⁶

3 Here, the total value of the monetary settlement benefit is $800,000. Class Counsel’s 4 requested fees of $171,520.07 (once out-of-pocket costs of $28,479.93 are subtracted) is 21% of this 5 monetary value. As discussed above, this percentage actually falls under the benchmark of 6 reasonable attorneys’ fees awarded in other cases involving similar recoveries in California.

7 D. Class Counsel Has Conferred Significant Benefits to a Large Class of Persons

8 Class counsel who has produced a significant benefit for the class is entitled to compensation.
9 The total value of the benefits to the class, i.e. the “success achieved,” includes all positive results
10 achieved by the litigation. See Netflix, 75 Cal.Rptr.3d at 421 (explaining that the “success achieved” 11 in a class settlement includes, inter alia, the dollar value of the settlement, the absolute size of the 12 class of persons who are eligible for the benefit, and changes in company policies). The settlement 13 achieved by Class Counsel confers substantial benefits on the class, and accomplishes the primary 14 purpose of California’s consumer protection laws—to stop and prevent unfair competition and 15 provide redress to consumers harmed by the unfair competition. This factor alone supports Class 16 Counsel’s fee request.

17 First, the Settlement provides an excellent recovery for the Settlement Class. Under the terms 18 of the Settlement Agreement, Defendant has agreed to provide a total settlement fund of $800,000,

19
20 ⁶ Laffitte, 376 P.3d at 688 (upholding award of 33.33% of the common fund as attorneys’ fees where the trial court 21 reasonably used a benchmark percentage plus consideration of counsel’s time spent on the case); see also Razo v. AT&T

Angeles Sup. Ct. No. BC 178775 (Sept. 30, 1997) (Judge Czuleger awarded plaintiffs’ counsel attorney’s fees equal to 40% of the settlement fund).

1 which will be used to pay: (1) Class Member claims, (2) the costs of notice and claims administration
2 (approximately $170,000), (3) Plaintiffs’ attorneys’ fees and costs (not to exceed $200,000); and (4)
3 Plaintiff’s incentive award ($1,500). Such a large number of class members have benefitted from this 4 settlement because no proof of purchase was required, which resulted from the great efforts of Class 5 Counsel during the negotiation of this settlement.

6 Furthermore, the Settlement Agreement provides Class Members with significant injunctive 7 relief because Defendant has agreed to change its labeling and marketing practices. Omoto Decl. ¶ 3, 8 Art. III, ¶ D.5. Specifically, Defendant has agreed not use the word “Austria” or the Austrian flag on 9 any of the Mueller-branded products, its packaging, labeling, and/or its online marketing. Id. This 10 change in the advertising and labeling of Defendant’s products provides long-lasting benefits to 11 consumers and helps eliminate false advertising throughout the industry as attention from nationwide 12 settlements often results in a chilling effect on other companies engaging in similar false advertising.
13 Indeed, courts in other false advertising cases have recognized significant value derived from 14 substantially similar injunctive relief. See Marty v. Anheuser-Busch Cos., No. 13-CV-23656-JJO, 15 2015 WL 6391185, at *2 (S.D. Fla. Oct. 22, 2015) (holding that “injunctive changes such as label 16 modifications represent a benefit to the class and should be considered when approving a class 17 settlement[,]” and collecting cases in accord). Thus, based on the scope of the injunctive relief and 18 its effect on the marketplace, the requested fee award is reasonable and warranted. See Chavez, 75 19 Cal.Rptr.3d at 430.

20 F. The Novelty and Difficulty of the Issues Involved and Class Counsel’s Skill in 21 Resolving Them Warrant Approval of the Requested Attorneys’ Fees

22 This case involves complex issues because, as with any contested class action, not only must 23 Plaintiff prove the merits of her claims, but also obtain class certification. Here, Plaintiff contends 24 that Defendant misled consumers into believing that the Covered Products are made or designed in 25 Austria when, in fact, they are not. This necessarily requires a showing that Defendant’s marketing 26 and labeling of the Covered Products deceives a significant portion of consumers, that such deceptive
27 representations were material to consumers, and that those consumers paid a price premium. See e.g.,

1 Lavie v. Procter & Gamble Co., 129 Cal.Rptr.2d 486, 495 (Cal. Ct. App. 2003). These are the issues
2 that Class Counsel spent a significant amount of time navigating in its negotiations with counsel for 3 Defendant, and based on the skill of Class Counsel, ultimately overcame in reaching a resolution in 4 this matter.

5 Courts also consider the professional experience of counsel in determining an appropriate fee
6 award. See Serrano, 20 Cal.3d at 49; see also Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029. Here, the reputation, 7 experience and ability of Class Counsel in litigating consumer class action litigation were essential to 8 successfully negotiating a favorable settlement. See Zepeda v. PayPal, Inc., No. C 10-1668 SBA, 9 2017 WL 1113293, at *20 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 2017) (noting counsel’s experience with consumer 10 class action litigation was “particularly beneficial in this action, in view of the substantive and 11 procedural complexities involved in litigation and the protracted settlement process.”) As forth in the 12 declaration submitted herewith, Class Counsel have extensive experience litigating class actions and 13 other complex civil litigation—particularly litigation involving consumer false advertising claims.
14 Omoto Decl. ¶¶ 7-9, Ex. 2. Class Counsel’s history of successfully prosecuting consumer class 15 actions demonstrates that they were committed to pursuing this litigation until they achieved a fair
16 result for Class Members. Indeed, Class Counsel has consistently displayed a high level of skill 17 regarding the complex legal issues presented in this matter. It worked diligently to achieve a 18 resolution in this matter that would encompass all Class Members, and ensure they receive real and 19 substantial benefits.

20 G. The Court Should Consider the Extent to Which the Nature of the Litigation
21 Precluded Class Counsel from Undertaking Other Cases

22 From the very beginning, this nationwide class action has demanded a great deal of attention 23 from Class Counsel. Due to the considerable expenditure of time, effort and resources – including a 24 significant pre-filing investigation, review of informal and confirmatory discovery, mediation, and 25 extensive negotiations– Class Counsel was required on some occasions to forego other employment 26 in order to commit the necessary resources to the prosecution of this case. Id. ¶ 26.

27 Class Counsel will continue to devote additional time and resources to this litigation assisting

1 Class Members in the settlement claims process, monitoring the distribution of claims, responding to 2 Class Member inquiries, preparing for and attending the final fairness hearing, and responding to any 3 settlement objectors and formal appeals. Id. ¶ 18. As such, the requested fee is reasonable and 4 appropriate, and does not account for the additional time and resources Class Counsel will devote to 5 this case as a result of these post-settlement activities.

6 H. The Contingent Nature of the Fee Award Supports Its Approval

7 By choosing to pursue a large-scale class action against Defendant involving complex issues
8 and claims, Class Counsel assumed a significant risk. In the event that Plaintiff was not successful 9 with her claims, her counsel bore a significant risk of losing substantial funds in litigating this class 10 action, which is usually a costly and expensive endeavor. Id. ¶ 27. Given the contingent nature of 11 the fee in this case, Class Counsel’s fee request is reasonable and certainly justified. See Rader v.
12 Thrasher, 57 Cal.2d 244, 253 (Cal. 1962) (“[A] contingent fee contract, since it involves a gamble on 13 the result, may properly provide for a larger compensation than would otherwise be reasonable.”).

14 I. The Factors Considered in the Percentage-of-the-Benefit Analysis Support 15 Granting the Fee Request

16 As established above, a plethora of the considerations identified by California Courts in 17 scrutinizing a Counsel fee award would in fact support an upward deviation above the “benchmark” 18 25% recovery. See supra n.10. In this context of comparable fee awards approved in other consumer 19 class action cases to attorneys of comparable experience, Counsel’s requested 21% Counsel fee of 20 $171,520.07 should be viewed as particularly reasonable and be approved by this Court.

21 J. A Lodestar Cross-Check Supports Class Counsel’s Fee Request

22 Under binding California Supreme Court jurisprudence, in a common fund case, it is not an 23 abuse of discretion for the trial court to assess and award attorney’s fees solely under the percentage 24 of benefits method. Laffitte, 376 P.3d at 688 (“[Trial courts] also retain the discretion to forgo a 25 lodestar cross-check . . .”). Thus, the Court need not conduct a lodestar cross check here, particularly 26 when Class Counsel is requesting a percentage that is below what is typically approved in this 27

1 jurisdiction. However, even if the Court chose to conduct a lodestar cross-check here, the cross-check 2 reveals that Class Counsel’s fee request is fair and reasonable.

3 Under the “lodestar” approach, an initial lodestar is calculated by multiplying the reasonable 4 hours expended in the action by a reasonable hourly rate for each attorney expending that time.
5 Lealao, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d at 803. Once the court has fixed the lodestar, it may increase or decrease that 6 amount by applying a positive or negative “multiplier” to take into account a variety of other factors, 7 including the quality of the representation, the novelty and complexity of the issues, the results
8 obtained, and the contingent risk presented. See Richard M. Pearl, California Attorney Fee Awards
9 (2d ed.1998) §§ 13.1-13.7. This is done because “the lodestar method better accounts for the amount 10 of work done, while the percentage of the fund method more accurately reflects the results
11 achieved.” Laffitte, 376 P.3d at 687 (quoting Rawlings v. Prudential-Bache Props., Inc., 9 F.3d 513, 12 516 (6th Cir. 1993) (emphasis added). Here, Class Counsel worked a total of 492.50 hours, with a 13 lodestar of $303,613.50. Omoto Decl. ¶ 15.

14 1. The Hours Worked by Class Counsel Were Reasonable

15 The starting point for the determination of the reasonable number of hours meriting 16 compensation is the evidence of the actual number of hours spent on the litigation. Horsford v. Board
17 of Trustees, 33 Cal.Rptr.3d 644, 673 (Cal. Ct. App. 2005). Class Counsel spent nearly 500 hours 18 litigating this case. See Omoto Decl. ¶ 15. The number of hours spent was reasonable given the 19 extensive pre-mediation investigation conducted by Class Counsel (supra § II), the Parties’ 20 negotiations, and Class Counsel’s time spent obtaining Court approval of the Settlement. In 21 determining whether the number of hours expended on the litigation was reasonable, the court “should 22 defer to the winning lawyer’s professional judgment as to how much time he was required to spend 23 on the case.” Moreno v. City of Sacramento, 534 F.3d 1106, 1112 (9th Cir. 2008) (noting that 24 “[l]awyers are not likely to spend unnecessary time on contingency fee cases in the hope of inflating 25 their fees. The payoff is too uncertain, as to both the result and the amount of the fee.”). Further, this 26 analysis does not take into account a significant unknown: the often considerable amount of time

- 1 • Lopez v. Mgmt. & Training Corp., Case No. 17cv1624 JM(RBM), 2020 WL 1911571
2 (S.D. Cal. Apr. 20, 2020) (approving attorneys' fee request with rates ranging from $500 3 to $900 per hour);

5 846930, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 5, 2018) (approving rates of $825 for named partner and 6 $795 for partner, as well as $525 for senior associate);

8 (Hourly rates ranging from $300 to $1,100 were reasonable in a 2016 consumer class 9 action case).

10 Plaintiffs' Counsel calculated their hourly rates by the reasonable market value of Counsel's 11 services on an hourly basis. As such, they are reasonable under California law. (Ketchum v. Moses, 12 24 Cal.4th 1122, 1134 (Cal. 2001); Blum, 465 U.S. at 895 n. 11; Camacho v. Bridgeport Fin., Inc.

15 reasonable market value for attorneys working on a contingent fee basis.)

16 3. Class Counsel Have Incurred a "Negative" Multiplier Here, Which Is Below
17 the Range Commonly Applied by Both California and Federal Courts

18 Class Counsel is seeking $171,568.86,000 in attorneys' fees even though their lodestar in this 19 case is $303,613.50, thereby resulting in a negative multiplier of .56. Omoto Decl. ¶ 24. An inverse 20 or "negative" multiplier occurs when the fees requested are less than Class Counsel's lodestar. Fee 21 requests which produce an inverse lodestar multiplier support an inference of reasonableness. See, 22 e.g., Carlotti v. ASUS Computer Int'l, No. 18-CV-03369-DMR, 2020 WL 3414653, at *6 (N.D. Cal.
23 June 22, 2020)("A negative multiplier strongly suggests the reasonableness of a negotiated 24 fee.")(internal quotation marks omitted); Rosado v. Ebay Inc., No. 5:12-cv-04005-EJD, 2016 WL
25 3401987, at *8 (N.D. Cal. June 21, 2016) (same); In re Portal Software, Inc. Sec. Litig., No. C-03-
26 5138 VRW, 2007 WL 4171201, at *16 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 26, 2007) ("The resulting so-called negative 27 multiplier suggests that the percentage-based amount is reasonable and fair based on the time and

1 effort expended by class counsel.”); Schiller v. David’s Bridal, Inc., No. 1:10-cv-00616-AWI-SKO, 2 2012 WL 2117001, at *23 (E.D. Cal. June 11, 2012) (“An implied negative multiplier supports the 3 reasonableness of the percentage fee request”); Chun-Hoon v. McKee Foods Corp., 716 F. Supp. 2d
4 848, 854 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (“[negative multiplier] suggests that the negotiated fee award is a 5 reasonable and fair valuation of the services rendered to the class by class counsel.”)

6 Indeed, substantial positive multipliers (when counsel seeks an amount in fees that is greater 7 than its lodestar) have been found to be reasonable in this jurisdiction. For example, in determining 8 an appropriate multiplier, the court in Wershba stated “[m]ultipliers can range from 2 to 4 or even 9 higher.” Wershba, 110 Cal.Rptr.2d at 170; see also City of Oakland v. Oakland Raiders, 249 Cal.
10 Rptr. 606 (Cal. Ct. App. 1988)(affirming a multiplier of 2.34). Numerous other cases have applied a 11 positive multiplier between 5.2 and 12 to class counsel’s lodestar. See, e.g., Craft v. Cnty. of San 12 Bernardino, 624 F. Supp. 2d 1113, 1125 (C.D. Cal. 2008) (multiplier of 5.2); Glendora Cmty.
13 Redevelopment Agency v. Demeter, 202 Cal.Rptr. 389 (Cal. Ct. App. 1984) (multiplier of 12); Wilson 14 v. Bank of America Nat’l Trust & Sav. Ass’n. No. 643872 (Cal. Sup. Ct. Aug. 16, 1982)(multiplier of 15 10 applied to hourly rate). Because courts routinely approve positive multipliers, a negative 16 multiplier inherently supports the finding of reasonableness.

17 The requested fee of $171,520.07 is therefore particularly justified here given that this is a 18 large and complicated class action for which Class Counsel dedicated significant time and resources.
19 Omoto Decl. at ¶¶ 23-27. Accordingly, it is well within the Court’s discretion, and appropriate here, 20 to award the full fee amount sought by Class Counsel.

21 VII. CLASS COUNSEL SHOULD BE AWARDED REIMBURSEMENT OF COSTS

22 As demonstrated above, Class Counsel’s time and efforts in this case show that their 23 requested fees are reasonable. In regard to out-of-pocket costs, attorneys in a class action may be 24 reimbursed for costs incurred “in the ordinary course of prosecuting [a] case” in addition to 25 attorneys’ fees incurred. See X-Ray Film Antitrust Litig., No. 960886, 1998 WL 1031494, at *11 26 (Cal. Sup. Ct. Alameda Cnty. Oct. 22, 1998) (awarding class counsel $29,051.40 in costs and 27

1 expenses). “[T]he prevailing view is that expenses are awarded in addition to the fee percentage and 2 are routinely reimbursed in contingency cases.” Nat. Gas Anti-Tr. Cases I, II, III & IV, No. 4221, 3 2006 WL 5377849, at *4 (Cal. Super. Ct. Dec. 11, 2006) (citations omitted). In Serrano, 20 Cal.3d
4 at 35, the Supreme Court advised that reimbursement of costs in a common fund is “grounded in the 5 historic power of equity to permit the trustee of a fund or property, or a party preserving or 6 recovering a fund for the benefit of others in addition to himself, to recover his costs, including his 7 attorneys’ fees, from the fund or property.” Id. Furthermore, California’s Consumers Legal 8 Remedies Act (“CLRA”), Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1750 et seq., expressly allows for an award of court 9 costs to Plaintiff in addition to an award of attorney fees. Cal. Civ. Code § 1780(e) (“[t]he court shall 10 award court costs and attorney’s fees to a prevailing plaintiff.”).

11 Here, Class Counsel’s costs and expenses to date which include fees for filing, mediation, and 12 travel are $28,479.93. Omoto Decl. ¶ 28 Ex. 6. This amount does not include additional costs Class 13 Counsel expects to incur after the filing of this Motion. Id. This request should be granted because 14 all the costs were reasonably incurred and necessary given the complex nature of this case.

15 VIII. A SERVICE AWARD FOR PLAINTIFF SHOULD BE GRANTED

16 Lastly, due to her diligent efforts serving as a class representative on behalf of the Settlement 17 Class, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court grant a service award of $1,500 as allowed for in 18 the Settlement Agreement. Omoto Decl. ¶3, Ex. 1, Art. III ¶ E. Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, 19 Defendant has the right to contest the award. Id. Service awards for class representatives are not 20 only common in class actions, but are typically awarded in excess of what Plaintiff is seeking in this 21 case. Munoz v. BCI Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Los Angeles, 112 Cal. Rptr.3d 324, 334-335 (Cal. Ct.
22 App. 2010) (“[I]t is established that named plaintiffs are eligible for reasonable incentive payments 23 to compensate them for the expense or risk they have incurred in conferring a benefit on other 24 members of the class.”); See also, In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 463 (9th Cir. 2000)
25 (approving a $5,000 service award for each class representative); *In re Toys “R” Us-Del., Inc. Fair
26 & Accurate Credit Transactions Act (FACTA) Litig.*, 295 F.R.D. 438, 470-72 (C.D. Cal. 2014)

1 (granting a $5,000 award to each named plaintiff, finding that “[t]hese proposed awards are consistent
2 with the amount courts typically award as incentive payments.”); see also Asghari v. Volkswagen
3 Grp. of Am., Inc., No. CV 13-02529 MMM (VBKx), 2015 WL 12732462, at *52 (C.D. Cal. May 29, 4 2015) (“Nonetheless, it is well-established that the court may grant a modest incentive award to class 5 representatives, both as an inducement to participate in the suit and as compensation for time spent 6 in litigation activities, including depositions.”). Indeed, courts have granted similar service awards 7 in cases settling at similar procedural postures as this instant action. See Id., 2015 WL 12732462, at 8 *54 (finding $2,500 as a reasonable service award when the parties settled before conducting any 9 depositions or briefed a class certification motion).

10 Here, Plaintiff is requesting a service award of $1,500, which is modest compared to service 11 awards that courts in California have found reasonable and have approved. Furthermore, a service 12 award is particularly warranted in this case because Plaintiff has played an integral role in the 13 commencement, pursuit, and resolution of this action on behalf of Class Members. Specifically, 14 Plaintiff spent significant time and resources providing Class Counsel with the information necessary
15 for her claims, working with Class Counsel on numerous occasions to discuss the status of the action, 16 the merits of the case, and settlement negotiations. Declaration of Stacy Dorcas (“Dorcas Decl.”) ¶¶
17 8-10. Plaintiff also contributed a significant amount of time reviewing the class action complaint, 18 Settlement Agreement, and notice documents. Id.; see also Theodore Eisenberg & Geoffrey P. Miller, 19 Symposium: Emerging Issues in Class Action Law: Incentive Awards to Class Action Plaintiffs: An 20 Empirical Study, 53 UCLA L. Rev. 1303 (2006) (stating that “representative plaintiffs might be 21 rewarded for their performance in taking on risky litigation because, if such litigation generates a 22 settlement, it may be inferred that the representative plaintiff has provided superior service to the 23 class.”).

24 Plaintiff was also fully prepared to undertake the work necessary to fully litigate this case if 25 necessary. Dorcas Decl. ¶ 11. Such efforts and commitment have resulted in significant monetary 26 and injunctive benefits to the Class Members. As such, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court 27

1 award her a service award of $1,500, as provided for in the Settlement Agreement.

2 IX. CONCLUSION

3 Plaintiff respectfully submits that the proposed Settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable on 4 its merits. Settlement Class Members have indicated overwhelming positive support for the 5 Settlement. Furthermore, experienced counsel recommends the proposed Settlement because it is in 6 the best interests of the Settlement Class in light of the risks of continued litigation. Accordingly, 7 Plaintiff requests that the Court issue an order granting final approval of the Settlement. Additionally, 8 Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court grant her request for $1,500 as an incentive award, and 9 Class Counsel's request for an award of attorneys' fees in the amount of $171,520.07 and $28,479.93 10 in out-of-pocket costs and expenses.
